

INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL MEETS TODAY

Kansas City Convention Opens With Choir and Band Music in Convention Hall.

7,000 DELEGATES HERE

Dr. W. O. Thompson, President Ohio University, Speaks of Work Done in Four Years.

By United Press.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., June 21.—Assisted by pianists, trumpeters, a band and two immense choirs, under the leadership of Prof. H. Augustine Smith, of Boston University, over 7,000 delegates to the Sixteenth International Sunday School Convention made Convention Hall ring as the opening hymn announced that the day when the Sunday School Council and the International Sunday School Association became one in "The International Sunday School Council of Religious Education" had arrived and the Sunday School forces of the United States and Canada were all united for a great national program of religious education. It is the ratification of this convention that makes the merger effective.

The devotional hour was in charge of Prof. O. W. Warrington of Boston University. In his address as President of the International Sunday School Association, Dr. W. O. Thompson, President of Ohio State University reviewed the work of the Association since the Buffalo Convention, in 1918.

The significance of the Convention from the standpoint of the merger of the two organizations, the Sunday School Council representing forty-four denominations and the International Sunday School Association, and called attention to the fact that never before in the history of Sunday School work in North America had so many eminent and representative speakers appeared on a convention program.

He challenged the Convention to meet the new opportunity wholeheartedly and make sure that religious education is made available for the millions of boys and girls in the United States and Canada at present unreached by either Church or Sunday School.

Then came the address on "The Changing World Order," by Dr. Charles M. Sheldon, editor of the Christian Herald, who spoke of the changes in economics, education, social life, morals and religious thought caused by the increasing closer and intimate contacts of nations the world around, and described some of the esoteric religious views that are now challenging Christianity on the very streets of the United States and Canada. "The surest way to make certain that we have Christian nations on the North American continent two generations hence is to have a thorough-going campaign of religious education now, so that tomorrow the boys and girls of today will be equipped to teach in an adequate manner the then rising generation. The merger of the two great Sunday School agencies into one augurs well for the success of such a venture."

Going Away in Search of Sunburn and Freckles?

"The only paper from which a man can really get the news of the world in a shape that he can understand is the newspaper of his own home town. The reason is, I suppose, that there are different ways of serving up the news, and we each get used to our own. Some people like the news fed to them gently; others like it thrown at them in a bomb-shell; some prefer it to be made as little of as possible, they want it minimized; others want the maximum."

A Guide to What's Good to Get

SOME one has said that if bread and butter were new inventions they would have to be advertised before people would accept them as standard articles of food. Even in this progressive age, folks are somewhat wary of leaving the beaten path. They stick pretty close to the things they know, when those things come up to their expectations.

That is why alert merchants and manufacturers strive to tell about their products and their services in the advertising columns of the daily paper. They want you to know what they have to offer, in the belief that when you do know, you will be interested, and perhaps inspired, with some of their own enthusiasm.

Thrifty men and women find that it pays to read the advertisements. It enables them to rest assured that they are not overlooking anything. It lets them know where to locate some desired product or service; where to go for "this" or how to get "that" to best advantage. Without its direction they would overlook much and consequently lose much. They would live in ignorance of many things that might add materially to their wealth, health and happiness.

Make advertising your guide to what's good to get.

Read it--reflect on it--it pays!

You can always depend on H-P Flour

THAT is why it is such a favorite with good cooks. H-P gives uniformly excellent results with bread, biscuits and cakes. The best wheat, well-milled, is the solid foundation on which H-P dependability rests. And that makes it, without doubt, the flour for your pantry. Order from your grocer, or the Mill, phone "9."
